Kieran Burgess - ISTA PD & TaPS 2017/2018. Questions? Email: kieran@kpburgess.com

- Decide on your universe: build your own or find an existing series of spaces?
- The 'Three Worlds' concept refers to the 3 types of space you could use.
- Participants should arrive into a contextualising world that sets place and time, before being activated in the main narrative arc.
- Following the Active world, participants can be 'Bridged' back into reality through reflective space, superimposing your world onto the real one, or discussion that connects your world's events with their lives.
